The G.O. of 13th Feby 1914 requires that ten bills should be presented to the accountant in the first instance. This would be allright in most cases but may act with some amount of hardship in big institutions managed by people of standing or at all events the necessity to submit such bills, may be interpreted in some sort of slight put upon the management

For account purposes the Comptroller wants the countersign of some responsible officer of Govt that the institutions is being properly managed. It seems the sufficient in the case of such large institutions, the proper management of which is likely to be within the personal knowledge of the Dr concerned that bills should be presented to him for management.

The Comptroller is not likely to consent to do away with the system of Countersignature. After all it is only an accident that the management has at its head such a public spirited gentleman as Dewan Bahadur

Sir,

I have the honour to invite your kind attention to my letter dated 1st May 1914 on the subject of exempting the Thotadappa's Charities in Bangalore from the procedure prescribed in Government Proceedings No.2089-98/Muz.215-13-3 - dated 13th February 1914. According to this order the Amildar of Bangalore has to certify that everything is alright and then the Deputy Commissioner has to counter-sign the bill for half-yearly interest. This involves delay and inconvenience. However much such a procedure may be necessary in the case of Charities in mofussil, it appears to be unnecessary in the case of the Thotadappa's charities situated in Bangalore and managed by a strong Committee.

I have the honour to be

Sir

Your most obedient servant,

Bangalore.
